Development Assistance from Japan World Bank

Japan is the second largest aid donor in the world. Over the past 30 years, it has provided over $200 billion to development as part of its official assistance program. While the top recipients of Japan's aid are primarily countries in East and South East Asia, it is also one of the largest donors in several African countries.

International economic cooperation policy of Japan Wikipedia

Japan's ratio of foreign aid to GNP in this year was 0.32%, behind the 0.35% average for the OECD's Development Assistance Committee member countries, but ahead of the United States ratio of 0.20%. The foreign aid program began in the 1960s out of the reparations payments Japan was obliged to pay to other Asian countries for war damage.

Part I Overview of the History of Japan s Education

Part I. Overview of the History of Japan s Education. 13 Chapter 1. The Modernization and Development of Education in Japan The introduction of a modern education system into Japan, taking several Western countries as models, began in a real sense in the latter part of the 19th century. The arrival of modernization in Japan was therefore comparatively late, but since Japan was fortunate
